

CUBAN DISORDERERS GROW: ENDANGER AMERICANS

Surprise Confession in Luer Kidnaping

STENOGRAPHIC REPORT GIVEN TO THE JURORS

Defendants Evidently Nonplussed By Unexpected Move

Edwardsville, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Introduction of a stenographic report on trial for the kidnaping of August Luer, wealthy Alton, Ill. banker, was made today in Circuit Court.

John E. Brennan, special agent for the Department of Justice, identified a statement he said was made by Mike Musiala, on whose farm near Eagle Park Luer was held for five days in a damp cellar.

The statement, related by Musiala, was prevailed upon by Randol Eugene Norvell, professional bondsman, to furnish the cave used in a vain effort at extortion. Luer was released without payment of ransom.

Previously Brennan produced a stenographic report of questioning of Mrs. Lillian Chessen, another defendant. The questioning was done, Brennan explained, in the presence of Norvell and the woman's husband, Charles Chessen, a grocer, also one of the defendants.

Mrs. Chessen was quoted as saying "That is correct, yes," when asked:

Corrected Note

"In other words you rode to Alton with Norvell and O'Malley on one occasion, and passed Luer's home, and on a later occasion you made some corrections in a kidnapers' note and furnished Norvell with a stick and some string." Irish O'Malley, East St. Louis hoodlum, is sought as a member of the kidnap gang.

Other defendants on trial are Percy Michael Fitzgerald, St. Louis ex-convict, and Nicolas Gitchko.

During the questioning of Mrs. Chessen, Brennan related, Mrs. Chessen and Norvell each denied statements made by the other.

Introduction of the stenographic report, which revealed a heated conversation between Mrs. Chessen and Norvell, came as a complete surprise.

While the existence of purported confessions was known, nothing was known of the recriminations exchanged between Mrs. Chessen and Norvell until Brennan took the witness stand late yesterday and was asked if statements he told of obtaining from Norvell, Mrs. Chessen and her husband, Charles Chessen, in the Benton jail were verbal.

Stenographer Hidden

"In addition to verbal statements, I obtained a stenographic report of a conversation between Mrs. Chessen and Norvell in the presence of Chessen."

Brennan was not asked the whereabouts of the stenographer, but Mrs. Chessen's evident surprise indicated the stenographer was concealed.

The witness testified it was a quarrel in which Mrs. Chessen and Norvell each denied statements made by the others as to specific facts but each mentioned details of the kidnaping which threw light on the crime.

After much argument by opposing attorneys, Judge D. H. Mudrey ruled the transcript of the conversation was admissible in all of its details, which referred to Mrs. Chessen and Norvell, but reserved decision as to whether references to Chessen would be admitted.

May Ask U. S. Aid In Hunt For Five Peoria Kidnapers

Hoover Given Great Welcome In To Be Common American Citizen Chicago; Finds It Impossible

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A presidential salute of 21 guns was the order of the day at A Century of Progress today in honor of former President Herbert Hoover, who is finding it difficult in Chicago to be just a common American citizen.

When first asked if he would accept the presidential salute he responded with an emphatic "no," but later he was prevailed upon to reverse his decision.

"I am just a common garden variety of American citizen come to see the Chicago Fair," he said, following his arrival yesterday from California. "I expect to spend four or five days here."

Cavalrymen from Camp John Whistler at the Century of Progress were ordered drawn up in shining array to greet the former President upon his arrival at the grounds. A formal boat ride around the lagoons and an auto tour through the grounds were on the program for the day.

Mr. Hoover and his wife are the house guests of Arch W. Shaw of Winnetka.

Codes For General Retail Trade And Drug Stores Await Approval Of Administrator General Johnson

Both Carry Much Controversial Price-Control Clause

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Two codes of fair competition, one covering the general retail trade and the other drug stores, were made public today by Deputy Administrator A. D. Whiteside of the NRA with the announcement that they were now up to Hugh S. Johnson for decision.

As finally drafted the codes carried the much-controverted price-control provision framed so that every merchant would be required to keep his minimum prices at 10 per cent above "wholesale delivered price" of any merchandise except for special sales.

Whiteside told newspapermen this could in no sense be construed as a price fixing provision since no profit could enter a retail transaction unless the merchant obtained 25 per cent above wholesale price.

Would Limit Losses

He said the value would rest primarily in limiting retailers' losses and preventing continuance of "loss leader" selling by which merchants attract customers with low priced goods in the hope they will buy items carrying a much higher profit.

The general or master code was submitted for ten classes of retail trade: department stores, furniture stores, general merchandise stores, hardware stores, limited price variety stores, mail order houses, men's clothing, music stores, shoe stores and women's specialty shops.

It would become effective on the second Monday following approval by the President.

Its Administration

Administration of the code would be in a retail trade authority consisting of the NRA Administrator or his deputy, three members appointed by the President, all to sit as members with the vote of the National Retail Trade Council.

The council would consist of at least one and not more than three representatives of the following divisions of the trade: dry goods, furniture, hardware, limited price variety, mail order, men's clothing, music, shoes and any other major divisions which may be designated later.

The representatives of the council would be elected by the national trade association representing these divisions the vote to be conducted by a method approved by the administration.

EAST GROVE MAN IN HOSPITAL AS FIGHT RESULT?

Nature Of Altercation On Sept. 5 Unknown By Officials

Edward McElroy of East Grove township is reported to be in a critical condition at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital today, suffering infection from wounds received in an altercation early in the morning of Tuesday, Sept. 5 at the home of Highway Commissioner James McBride of May township.

Three physicians were reported to be in attendance on the case.

Reports of how McElroy sustained his head injuries were varied today. From one source it was reported that the young man and his brother had attended a Labor Day celebration and went to the McBride home where heated words were exchanged. About 2 o'clock the following morning, the altercation is alleged to have been renewed with the result that Edward McElroy sustained injuries to his face in a fall against a pump in the yard. Infection is said to have resulted and the young man was brought to the hospital in this city where an

Twenty Million Relief Bond Is Object Of Attack

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—An injunction suit attacking the $20,000,000 relief bond issue approved at the 1932 referendum was filed in Sangamon county Circuit Court today.

The suit attempted to block payment of interest and principal on the bond issue, adopted last year as an emergency measure for "employment relief."

The court was asked to restrain State Auditor Edward J. Barrett and State Treasurer John C. Martin from paying interest due December 1 from monies due counties from gasoline tax revenues.

If successful, the injunction would jeopardize the $20,000,000 bond issue proposed by the state administration and Federal relief officials as a means of financing unemployment relief in future months. This bond issue is to be placed before the special session of the General Assembly on October 3.

A. M. Fitzgerald, local attorney, filed the suit in the name of Nellie D. Michaels, an attorney in his office. Fitzgerald represented a group of highway contractors in another injunction case which had another 1932 relief law declared illegal.

WEST VIRGINIA CITIES MAY BE WITHOUT FUNDS

A Supreme Court Rule Limits Taxes To Small Amounts

Morgantown, W. Va., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Halting of all city machinery, including police and fire protection, is threatened by Morgantown officials in a drastic reaction to a state experiment in constitutional limitation of municipal taxing powers.

Only by a last-minute offer of policemen and firemen to remain on duty for 48 hours pending thrashing out of the question was a complete cessation of all municipal service averted last night.

Crowds gathered in the streets and business men sought frantically to keep the city running after councilmen ordered suspension of municipal machinery on the ground that the taxation limitation leaves the city penniless.

The deadline was set for midnight, but at that time the order was modified to keep the patrolmen and fire fighters on duty.

Limit For All Funds

The councilmanic order came several hours after the state Supreme Court upheld a constitutional amendment limiting to 50 cents on every one hundred dollars the levy on money, notes, bonds and agricultural personal property, $1 per hundred on farms and homes occupied by the owners; $1.50 per hundred on other property outside cities, and $2 per hundred for other property in city limits. The rates listed are for all tax purposes—state, county, school and municipal.

No additional taxes can be raised, the court held, even for interest and sinking fund requirements on past bond issues, except through indirect levying or by a vote of 60 per cent of the municipality's electors.

Contending this ruling will permit the city to collect only $70,000 annually in property taxes, the Morgantown council and Mayor Paul Summers said: "We can no longer function as a city."

The mayor pointed out that last year's budget was $211,000, and asserted that "the $70,000 will only pay the interest on our bonds."

THREE RECEIVE THREATS FROM FUGITIVE THUG

Prosecutor Sends His Family To Another City For Safety

Oklahoma City, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The families of three principals in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping case—two federal prosecutors and the chief witness, the victim himself—were placed under heavier guard today after receipt of threats from gangland.

The threats came in airmail letters to Urschel and Joseph E. Keenan, Assistant Attorney General in charge of the government's drive on criminals.

The latest two threats were revealed after receipt by the Daily Oklahoman of a letter from Geo. (Machine Gun) Kelly, fugitive in the abduction case, in which he said Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon and their son, Armon, were innocent of kidnaping conspiracy charges filed against them.

Bore Fingerprints

All of the letters were postmarked at Chicago and dispatched by airmail. They bore Kelly's fingerprints.

Keenan, although not admitting outright that threats against prosecutors and Urschel had been received, issued a scathing denunciation of "underworld rats," saying the government would only intensify its prosecution of criminals.

Herbert K. Hyde, United States Attorney, revealed his family had been removed to another city temporarily. He said he believed "all these letters from Kelly were conceived right here in our jails and sent to Chicago for mailing to Oklahoma City; if not in our jails, then in our city."

Son Threatened

Hyde said he sent his family away after word from friends of the kidnap suspects that his four-year-old son might be abducted. He believed it was possible that gangland hoped to quiet the prosecutor by "getting his boy."

The District Attorney added: "I believe George Kelly is in town today."

In the letter to the Oklahoman, Kelly boasted he had been in Oklahoma City several times recently. "We can expect anything," Hyde added. "Gangland is desperate."

Rehearsals are being conducted on Monday and Thursday afternoon of each week and a band school for beginners on Tuesday afternoon. There were 15 present at the school yesterday afternoon. The training under Director Mason is to be continued through the winter months and the members of the junior organization will be considered for chairs in the Civic band when vacancies occur.

SIX TRUE BILLS RETURNED TODAY BY GRAND JURY

County Jail, Court House Reported In Good Condition

The grand jury for the September term of the Lee county Circuit Court completed its deliberations this morning and returned six true bills. Its report follows: Inspection of the county jail property late yesterday afternoon, being quite different from those of recent years. The report, as filed with Judge Frank Sheehan, who is presiding at the September term this morning, was to the effect that the grand jury found the county jail to be in a sanitary condition and the prisoners confined therein, well cared for by Sheriff Fred A. Richardson. Continuing, the report states as follows:

"We would recommend, however, that the bars and wire netting on all of the windows in the county jail be repaired or replaced. We further recommend that greater vigilance be exercised by the jailer or turnkey employed in the said jail, in the daily inspection of prisoners confined therein."

The report concluded by stating that the grand jury found the court house and appurtenant property to be in fine condition.

Cases which were presented to the grand jury and in which true bills were filed were:

George Morap, assault with intent to commit murder. Bonds, $5,000.

Ernest James McCabe, burglary and larceny. Bonds $5,000. (Escaped.)

Walter Scott, Amboy, larceny. Bonds, $2,000.

Kenneth Carlson and Gilbert Thorpe, larceny of automobile. Bonds, $2,000 each. (Escaped.)

W. G. Conn, Amboy, embezzlement. Bonds $2,000.

Lloyd Moore and John Hassel, Dixon, larceny of automobile. Bonds, $2,000 each.

Five More Necessary To Wipe Off Dry Amendment

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The score card in the fight over repeal read today:

Repeal 31, prohibition 0.

Idaho and New Mexico, voting yesterday, approved the proposed 21st amendment, which would strike the 18th from the constitution.

This placed the repeal forces in a position where they can spot the prohibitionists three states between now and Nov. 7 and still have national prohibition out of the Constitution in December.

The next state to vote is Virginia, on Oct. 3. Florida votes on Oct. 10 and six more—North and South Carolina, Ohio, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Utah—on Nov. 7. The anti-prohibitionists need only five or them to obtain the 36 states needed to amend the Constitution.

If they get the five, they expect the formalities of ratification to be concluded in December.

IDAHO FIVE TO FOUR

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 20.—(AP)—With approximately nine-tenths of the expected vote in yesterday's election tabulated today Idaho gave 52,007 votes for repeal of the eighteenth amendment to 38,172 against repeal, a majority of 13,835.

The vote came from 591 of the state's 819 precincts; those outstanding were all small, some with barely a dozen electors registered.

In only 11 of the state's 44 counties was the vote against repeal. Seven were in the south and east sections of the state, where a large proportion of the population are descendants of Latter Day Saints settlers who came from Utah.

Boise and Pocatello, the two largest cities in the state, voted for repeal.

The 21 delegates elected will meet here October 17 to formally record Idaho's ratification of the twenty-first amendment.

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 20.—New Mexico had joined the national prohibition repeal parade today by virtue of a three to one majority cast for elimination of the dry law in yesterday's special election. The state also voted to abolish the 15-year-old state bone dry statute.

Only two of New Mexico's 27 counties voted against repeal—Curry and Roosevelt. Returns had been compiled from 257 of the state's 785 precincts. The unreported precincts, however, represented only 20 per cent of the estimated vote. The count stood: For repeal 31,666; against repeal 9,842.

The vote from 251 precincts on the state prohibition law was: For repeal, 29,570; against repeal, 19,621.

CONTRACTOR IS DELAYED MOVING HEAVY MACHINES

Iowa Man Experiences Trouble Getting Out Of Dixon

An Iowa road building contractor who is returning with his equipment from near Hebron, Ill., was taking slow progress when he reached Dixon today. The equipment was being transported over the state highways, pulled by heavy caterpillar tractors. Arriving in Dixon on route 2, the contractor was to proceed west on the Lincoln Highway. The pavement resurfacing operations west of the city prevented this routing and it was then decided that the equipment would be hauled west over the Rock Island road to Rock Falls.

Another obstacle appeared when it was stated that small bridges in Lee and Whiteside counties on the Rock Island road would probably not support the heavy machinery and it was necessary to select another route. The heavy road building machinery was being moved in three sections and it required all of this morning to bring it from Grand Detour to Dixon. It was expected that the machinery would be taken north of the city and then routed back on the Lincoln Highway west of the brick paved stretch which is being resurfaced.

World Leader Of Theosophists Dead In Bombay

ANNE BESANT

Bombay, India, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Annie Besant, internationally known theosophical leader, died today.

Divorced and deprived of the custody of her children because she, the wife of an English clergyman, had espoused the cause of free thought and had disagreed with her husband concerning the Westminster confession, Mrs. Besant became in turn a champion of London's poor, leader in political and social reforms, a strike organizer and eventually head of the world's theosophists.

As president of the Theosophical Society, she became a world-wide traveler, lecturer and speaker, expounding the tenets of theosophy, described as a "mystical speculation applied to deduce a philosophy of the universe." She preached the doctrine of reincarnation and that man could know God by developing the powers of his own soul. She asserted that she herself had been reincarnated many times and had lived many lives, beginning twelve thousand years ago.

In the course of her travels she several times visited the United States to promote the affairs of the organization of which she was head. While on these visits she asserted that the theosophical society was the nucleus of a universal brotherhood, prophesied the evolution of a new civilization vastly superior to the present, in which development, theosophy would be a potent factor, expressed a belief in the existence of disembodied souls and declared that she had often met and talked with ghosts. In 1911 she predicted that the reincarnation or second coming of Christ was near.

Born in London October 1, 1847, of Irish parents, she was married when twenty years old to the Rev. Frank Besant, afterward Vicar of the Church of England. Two children, a boy and a girl, were born to them. When she espoused the cause of free thought, she obtained a divorce but was denied the custody of her children on the ground that she was unfit to educate them. Described as impulsive, warmhearted and sensitive, she plunged into social and political reform and became the idol of the London working girls whose cause she championed in a successful strike of the match girls. Often she addressed the unemployed working men and women of London in Trafalgar Square where she once bravely charged a group of soldiers and asserted her right to speak. She established a home in London for friendless girls, agitated actively for home rule in Ireland, fought in behalf of wayward children on the London school board of which she was a member, and became a socialist leader.

Says Roosevelt Is Bringing About Inflation Gradually But He Dare Not Even Mention It

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—An assertion that President Roosevelt gradually was bringing about inflation of the currency, but that he would not even dare to admit it, was made today by Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) a leader in the inflation movement to increase farm commodity prices.

"It is my opinion," Thomas told newspapermen, "that President Roosevelt does not want to make a statement on inflation because if he even hinted it commodity prices would jump too fast and too high before the money is distributed, among the people."

MANY FLEE FROM INTERIOR TOWNS TO COAST CITIES

Seek Protection There Of U. S. Warships In The Harbors

BULLETIN

Havana, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Widespread outbreaks of malaria were added today to the burden of suffering Cuba. Many towns in the island reported numerous cases of the disease, and conditions were especially bad at Cienfuegos.

This new affliction came as the government headed by President Ramon Grau San Martin was doing its utmost to hold power against an opposition determined to oust it, and as that opposition movement crystallized into virtual civil war.

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Reports of extreme and growing disorder in the interior of Cuba, from which many Americans were said to be fleeing to the protection of United States warships at coastal ports, were received today at the State Department.

Some Americans have been advised by the United States Consuls to move to the coast for protection, it was said, and others were fleeing from their homes on their own volition.

Secretary Hull told newspapermen there were no plans at present to land American bluejackets and that there was no intention of transforming the protecting American ships into a rural police force.

No Evacuation Orders

The Secretary of State said, however, Americans in the interior were supposed to use their discretion, moving under protection of warship guns rather than having troops come inland to their rescue. It was made clear at the department that no general order had been sent to consuls to evacuate Americans.

Reading from official reports, Hull said extreme disorders were anticipated at Vane, where United Fruit Company property is located. Serious strikes continued, he said, at the United Fruit property near Preston.

At Antilla, near which disorders have been reported at sugar plants, Hull said there had been a marked change for the worse.

TROOPS HUNT REBELS

Havana, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A motley crew of soldiers, students, and workmen tracked the rebellious Juan Blas Hernandez in the rugged Camaguey hills today while at home the scenes were set for another political skirmish.

Blas Hernandez, a doughy campaigner against Gerardo Machado, was reported some place near Las Cuevas, in Camaguey province, with a force of 500 men, all as firm as he in the conviction that President Ramon Grau San Martin should resign.

On their trail were 600 soldiers, commanded by Sergeant Mazorra and armed with 12 machine guns, and a group of students and laborers.

Will Not Surrender

There were many rumors about the movement. One was that the troopers surrounded the rebels near the small town of Zayas. Another said soldiers and rebels exchanged shots near Tamarindo. But friends of "the Cuban Sandino" agreed that he would not surrender.

At Moron, the northwestern Camaguey province town which the Hernandez force occupied before pushing on into the hills, the police force was disarmed by soldiers and imprisoned as staunch supporters of the rebel leader.

On the Havana front a less dramatic but no less important episode was being enacted in what the executive described before 5,000 hearers as "a duel to the death," in which he and his followers were "sworn to maintain the free country of which our fathers dreamed."

Grau San Martin had not answered demands of his leading opponents that he step down, but there were indications that he would continue to defy them.

He said his resignation was in the hands of his supporting factions and that he would abide by their decision.

The Turkish name for Constantinople is Istanbul or Stamboul, derived from the Greek word meaning "to town" or "in town."

York, Neb. National Bank Is Robbed Of $30,000 This Morn

York, Neb., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Three police gunmen robbed the First National Bank here today. The loot was estimated at $30,000.
C. A. McCloud, president, said the men entered the bank soon after 12:30 P. M., politely backed all of the bank's employees and customers into a back room and scooped up the available cash. They made no attempt to enter the vaults, McCloud said.
William E. McCloud, cashier of a savings bank operated in conjunction with the First National and a brother of C. A. McCloud, was taken by the robbers as a hostage but was dropped off their automobile at a hospital about a mile north of the bank.
C. A. McCloud said the amount taken probably was about $30,000 as this was the cash generally on hand outside the vaults.

You may have an auto accident. Worse yet you may meet with death in such an accident. If you have one of the Dixon Telegraph's Accident policies which cost $1.25 for a year's protection your family would receive $1,000.

If you have anything what so ever to sell why not try a for sale ad in the Dixon Telegraph?

WALLACE STILL SUPPORTER OF
INFLATION IDEA

Agriculture Secretary Explains Position To Grain Assn.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace today told the Grain Dealers Association that he still favors controlled inflation.

Along with this, President Roosevelt's Secretary of Agriculture criticized high tariff psychology and warned that attempts to fix prices "without control of production is doomed to failure."

"Most of the price fixers are also inflationists," he said. "If the purchasing power of farm products does not improve during the next three months the price fixers and inflationists will have great power in Congress this coming winter and there will be passed legislation which will make the Agricultural Adjustment Act seem extraordinarily repulsive."

Explaining his attitude on inflation, Wallace said that recent views he expressed on the subject have been misinterpreted.

Views Unchanged
"For a number of years prior to March 4, 1933," Wallace said, "I urged the stabilization of the purchasing power of the dollar and the chasing power of the commodity price level to that which prevailed in 1926 x x x Since March 4, it has been my pleasure to see the objectives we strove for out in the middle west become a basic principle in President Roosevelt's program for recovery. x x x In view of the progress already made in that direction, it was deemed opportune to explain to farmers what some of the results might be, especially to point out that if the previous price level is restored farmers would still face the continued necessity of balancing farm output more nearly in line with demand conditions."

"Unfortunately, this attempt to clarify the farmer's thinking, lest he be disappointed when the price level objectives are eventually attained, has given rise to the mistaken impression that I have changed my views. My position with respect to controlled inflation has not changed."

Secretary Wallace said he looked for "decidedly higher agricultural prices within a few months."

Dunham New Head Of Relief Agency
Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Governor Horner today announced that Robert J. Dunham, retired Chicago packer, has accepted appointment as chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

After conferring with the Governor at the Executive Mansion Dunham agreed to take the position vacated by Edward L. Ryerson, Jr., as head of the commission administering public funds for the feeding, sheltering and clothing of the destitute jobless.

The Governor expressed gratification that Dunham had accepted the "tough job." Dunham is to give full time to the relief work.

Dunham retired in 1920 as vice president of Armour & Co.

YET MARK THE VIOLET

YET mark the violet how it loads with sweets.
The pregnant gale, spreading its purple leaves;
The painted pink, too with the roscub's bloom,
And fair narcissus catch the enchanted eye.

When winter's frost arrests the rushing stream,
And binds in icy chains the sad-den'd year,
Fled is their beauty, fled that fragrant breath,
Wont to regale the weary passenger.

But when the spring ethereal mid-ness sheds,
And bids the brook its former flow resume,
Up springs the lark, Aurora's messenger, Gladdening the goat-herd with his early song.

Each plant, each flower, inhales the genial breath,
And, opening into life, again pours forth, Loose on the zephyr, all its wonted sweets.
Again the violet dark resumes its hue, Nor wanting to the rose-bud is its bloom.

—John Jortin, in "Headley's Ancient English Poetry."

IT'S HIGH TIME FOR THAT HOUR-GLASS FROCK!

Fall Evening Gowns Mold Figure Closely to Simulate Fashions of 1908—
Fur Is Used Lavishly

By JEAN SAVOY
(NEA Service Writer.)

You're going to dance the hours away this fall in an evening dress which has the new hour-glass silhouette.

Fabrics, designs and accessories are important, of course, but it's to the silhouette that you must pay special attention, if you would be truly chic.

Evening costumes closely mold the figure in very much the same manner as did the fashions of 1908.

Fur is used lavishly on these new evening gowns for fall. Sometimes a band of it is stitched on around the bottom, but more often it trims the neck or some part of the skirt.

All of the more luxurious fabrics go to make up enchanting evening dresses. Lame, faille, taffeta, satin and velvet are the most important ones.

Fullness is centered below the knees in the form of pleats and circular insets that swish.

A dress which catches the spirit of the new silhouette and follows up the new hour-glass figure theme is of soft, black velvet, with fitted lines and an extremely high waistline.

Delicate baby lace edges the square neckline, the graceful, cascading short sleeves and the bottom of the taffeta slip which shows below the skirt.

There is no side opening on the gown. Six rhinestone buttons in the back make it easy for you to put it on.

The taffeta slip, worn under the dress, has pleated godets on the sides which show through the slit in the sides of the skirt.

If there is anything nicer than black for evening, it is white. Both have so much of the glamor you need for formal evening wear.

Magnificent white crepe makes a fur-trimmed evening gown that will attract envious eyes at any party.

The beautiful neckline is trimmed with kolinsky. It is extremely high in front with the kolinsky bordering the material just above the bust. The fur thins down to a point on the low back.

The skirt is well cut, giving the long, flowing line to the hem but retaining thinness about the hips.
The belt of self material is fastened with a diamond buckle.

Worn without flowers, the gown depends on its suave lines and fur band for adornment.

Earrings can be used for variety.
Wear brown ones to match the fur on one occasion, and diamond ones to match the buckle on another.

Babe May Receive Too Much Attention

Daddy kissed his family goodbye and left the train.

That was a signal for two-year-old Wallace to set up a yell. Instantly his ten-year-old brother laid himself out to amuse the baby. He and his mother spent the day trying to keep little brother quiet.

Wallace was two all right. He had a whole mouthful of teeth.
And as he dashed up and down the aisle he could steady himself on the speeding car better than a grown person.

People got tired after a while trying to divert him so his tired mother and patient brother could have a rest.

Too Much Attention
His mother tried to make him take a nap. No sir! He would not sleep. Choo-choo trains are too exciting. No one can expect a baby to sleep with the world roaring under him and around him.

But I think he might have slept but for two things.

His mother evidently had expected a circus so she had come prepared with food.

About every half hour he was given a bottle of milk or a bottle of something brown. He was a year past bottle age but there were enough bottles to stock a store.

In between times he was fed either crackers or sandwiches.
When Wally wasn't drinking he was eating and when he wasn't doing either he was usually screaming.

Then there was the matter of attention. He knew they expected him to be naughty. He loved to be coaxed and nursed and fed and run after. That grand brother of his gave up every second of the long journey trying to help his mother out. I have seldom seen anything like it in a boy of his age.

Traveling With Babies
These two things: too much food and too much attention, were entirely responsible for this baby's condition, which by three o'clock was pitiful.

I was sorry for the whole family, the tired mother especially.
She was trying to keep the baby quiet I suppose on account of the other passengers. But it didn't do any good.

It is terribly hard to travel with children of that age. It is easy to give advice but only a mother knows how hard it is to follow it.

One thing that is important is to understand rather than overfeed a little child on a train. The more excited and tired a baby is the less work his stomach can do.

Another is to treat a trip as a rather matter of fact affair, and not to let him see that you expect him to carry on. A baby usually reflects his mother's nerves.

TO TAKE TRIP TO KEARNEY, NEB.—
Mrs. Eleanor Coover and daughters, Mrs. Avon Hackett and son

Charivari for Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ports

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ports were the victims of a party of friends who held a charivari for them last evening, 918 Highland avenue, staging the celebration on reports of their recent re-marriage in an Indiana city. Efforts of the Telegraph to substantiate the report of the marriage were unsuccessful, however.

Jack, and Mrs. Paul Jones and daughter Eleanor, are planning a two weeks motor trip to Kearney, Neb., and expect to start Friday.
Mrs. Jones and little daughter are expected today from Elmhurst.

One of my favorites, she's learned, is poached eggs on toast and she don't expect me to tend the toaster either. She slices the bread thin, toasts it just right, spreads on the butter, slips Mr. Egg on top, and I do the rest.

Marie says the difference in bread shows up at the toaster. She says if it's made of good flour and other good ingredients, then baked right, your toast will brown evenly.
It will be close grained, too, so the butter don't get away from you like it does with bread full of holes.

Smart idea seems to me, what Marie says about the difference in bread showing up at the toaster. When it comes to providing a suitable resting spot for a poached egg, it's too risky to use any but the best bread you can buy.

Walnut Household Science Unit Met

The Walnut Household Science club was entertained on Friday afternoon at the Mrs. Will Hoge home with Mrs. Mary Keithahn and Mrs. Ollie Atherton as assistant hostesses.

Nineteen members answered the roll call with "What is Happiness?"
Guests present were Mrs. Henry Baumgartner and Mrs. Loren Hoge.
A short program was directed by Mrs. Winifred Knight. Mrs. Knight
read a very interesting paper,
"Mother's Job." Mrs. Evelyn Krasang a vocal duet, "Our Yesterdays" and responded to an encore with "School Bells." Mrs.
Keithahn gave a recipe for finger-bread and a dainty lunch was served at the close of the afternoon.

Flying Needles Meet
Mrs. Everett Minier was hostess to the "Flying Needles" club on Thursday afternoon.

Interesting Meet- ing of War Mothers

The Lee County War Mothers held a very enjoyable meeting in the Legion Hall on Friday afternoon, September 15th.

There was a very good attendance, the usual roll call and several other items of importance were taken care of.

Plans for the annual picnic were talked over and the date set for Sept. 21st, and Lowell Park to be the place of the annual meeting.

Mrs. Strub reported to the local Chapter that the state will hold its yearly picnic in Dixon in 1954. This gathering will be held in August.

The next meeting will be held the first Friday in October.

Friloha Class Meeting Enjoyed

The Friloha class of the Christian church held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Miss Jane Bradford, Monday evening. There were twenty-three members present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Helen Mc-Gonigle, after which the class song was sung.

A most interesting devotional service was led by Miss Evelyn Graff, the subject being "The Life of Service." Hymns were sung and a responsive scripture taken from the 12th Chapter of Romans was read. Devotions were closed with a prayer by Miss Genevieve Reitzel.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. It was decided to hold a Halloween party at the home of Miss Dorothy Schmidt the latter part of October. The members of the class were urged to attend the talk to be given by Dr. Stanley Jones.

The meeting was dismissed by prayer after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

The guests departed for their homes assuring the hostess of a most delightful evening.

Hillison-Smith Wedding of Interest

Miss Hazel Smith and Clyde Hillison of Chicago were married Saturday evening Sept. 16th at 5:00 o'clock at the Baptist church of Englewood in the presence of about seventy relatives and guests.

The bride looked charming in a light blue transparent velvet dress with accessories to match. Her sister, Pearl, was bridesmaid, wearing a brown velvet transparent dress with brown accessories. John D.
Domolson of Chicago was best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at Rowan Trees Hotel to forty guests.

Mrs. Hillison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Englewood Avenue, Chicago, and is a public accountant for the Bell Telephone Company, working in the branch office at South Chicago.

Mr. Hillison, son of Mr. and Mrs.

THE HORSE SHOW.

The Dixon Saddle Club deserves great praise for the splendid horse show sponsored by the organization and staged here Saturday and Sunday. For an inexperienced, newly born organization to put over such an interesting and finished production in its first attempt the result was nothing short of amazing. The affair should be made an annual feature and should become an event of importance in Northern Illinois.

Everyone who had anything to do with the horse show must feel complimented by its success. We believe that the man who supplied the inspiration and the original enthusiasm which did much to bring it about is Dr. Z. W. Moss and he certainly was ably assisted and supported by all of his organization.

The Telegraph speaks the support of the Lee County Board of Supervisors, because, with the cooperation of the county board the state of Illinois will extend financial aid and the Dixon Horse Show, or, perhaps, the Lee County Horse Show might be a better name, bids fair to bring distinction to this county in years to come.

THE OLD LIBERALISM LOSES FAITH.

Nothing is much more instructive, in a world where progress is the watchword, than to listen to the reminiscences of a disillusioned reformer.

A Washington correspondent the other day sat down to chat with Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma. Senator Gore used to be an ardent liberal, a Wilsonian progressive, a teammate, in the old days, of such fighters as Bryan and the elder LaFollette. Now he has cooled off, and he doubts that reformers push things along much faster, in the long run, than conservatives.

"Years ago, when I was coming along in life, I thought we were going to solve all the problems of the world," he said.

"First, we wanted the initiative and referendum. It was obvious that with the powers of the initiative the people would do whatever needed to be done to make ours a perfect society. With the referendum, the people would hold in check whatever should not be done.

"Of course we also had to have the direct election of United States senators," he goes on. "We got that, and lo, it hath made cowards of us all. To cement and consolidate our gains, we had to have woman suffrage. We knew the good women would vote only for honorable and able public servants, wise and human public policies.

"And to cap all our reforms we needed prohibition. We were going to substitute the moral code for the penal code."

And he concludes:
"We knew that when we accomplished these things we could sit off on the sidelines and watch all our problems solve themselves."

Any adult whose memory goes back to pre-war days can see that all of this was, pretty largely, the old progressive credo. It hung, for the most part, on an unquestioning faith in pure democracy. Give the people all the power possible and all will be well; the remedy for the ills of democracy is more democracy; the voice of the people is the voice of God—so ran the philosophy of the liberal.

The progressive sounds a different note today. No longer does he rely on an extension of the principles of Jefferson and Jackson. Democracy has to function in an infinitely complex society. Your up-to-date reformer is more likely to be an economist or an engineer than a politician. He fights for the same old cause—a freer, happier life for the ordinary man—but he has been forced to use different weapons. The old ones were good, but they weren't enough by themselves.

SECURITIES LAW SAVES.

Dispatches from Washington indicate that the new "truth in securities" law, passed by the last Congress amid wails from the financial district, has already saved American investors a good many millions of dollars.

During the speculative frenzy of the early summer, it seems, some of the smart boys decided to cash in by promoting a lot of new gold mining and brewery stocks. The legalization of beer and the high value of gold had paved the way, and the public was back in the market again. Chances looked very good for a killing.

But under the new law there must be filed a public record of all the data an investor needs to determine for himself the value of a new security, and this record must include the size of the promoter's cut; so a lot of these issues never got to the public at all. And the general public has, thereby, saved a good deal of money.

The strongest man in history has never been silent.—David Lloyd George.

I want to state that a more decent set of gals never existed than those of us who frolicked so merrily in the Dawson dance halls.—Klondike Kate.

Just a bunch of idiots go to these nudist places, anyway, a bunch of old baldheads wanting to think they're young again.—Judge Joseph B. David of Chicago.

The funny duck seemed to enjoy the swinging. Wee Scouty cried, "Oh, boy! I'd hate to have to try that trick. I know I'd take a flop." The duck swings back and forth with ease. I couldn't hang on, by my knees. I will bet the duck will soon get tired. Perhaps we'd better stop."

The parrot said, "Oh, my, you're wrong. That clever duck is very strong. Why, she'd sit on that rope all night, if you would keep swinging it."

"I'll bet, right now, that your arms ache. A little rest you'd better take." "That suits me fine," said Scouty. "I am fagged. I will admit."

So, he and Corpy let the rope drop down and Goldy cried, "I hope you have had real fun, old ducky. You are clever as can be."

"The duck then flapped her wings around and started waddling over the ground. Her tail bobbed back and forth, and 'twas a funny sight to see."

Just then the Times heard a sound and, as the whole bunch looked around, wee Dotty shouted, "Oh, let's run. I see a little bear." "Just look! It's heading right for here. I don't want it to come too near." "The bear is tame," the parrot cried. "It won't give you a scare."

Then to the cub bear he cried out, "You have come to show us tricks, no doubt. Well we will fix the rope again. Then, see what you can do."

The rope was tied between two trees. The bear hopped up on it with ease. "He will show you something new."

"Now, first he will try his finest trick. Unless he fails, it will be slick. Get him a big long stick. Duncy. Don't be afraid of him at all."

The cub soon held the stick real tight, and walked the rope. "My, what a sight. The Tinymites all held their breath. They thought the bear would fall."

(Scouty and a pig play a trick on Duncy in the next story.)

Richard Halliburton has had one of the most extraordinary careers in American letters. Immediately after college he set out, deliberately without resources, to explore the lands beyond the horizon and to write his travels in a book. In literary conventions he had little training. But he had an infallible sense of what places were interesting and romantic. He saw things and did things in his own reckless manner, climbing Matterhorns and Fuji-yamas, being waylaid by Chinese pirates, vagabonds in Bali and Kashmir, Spain, and Siberia. And then wrote about his adventures with such verve and originality that he captured the reading public of

Traveling Around America

TROPICAL MATTRESS

HERE is the Indian's version of a warm-weather mattress—a fine matting of palms, called petate, on sale in a market in El Salvador. Few of the Indians dwelling in the Central Americas ever have heard of our modern air-cooling systems but they have some ideas of their own that work out very well—particularly in the matter of constructing houses and furniture that are comfortable and cool.

Beds, for instance, they make by crisscrossing leather thongs on a frame of wooden posts, and in especially warm-weather use for a mattress only a light, loosely woven petate. Some tribes use hammocks for beds. These they weave from henequen fiber and suspend from the rafters in their huts. With this petate or hammock, a few "calabash" dishes, a trusty machete and a bag of corn, the Indian can journey forth with his family into the bush and make a home wherever nature provides the best soil for his crops.

On sightseeing trips arranged for travelers making the weekly cruises between New York and California, one often meets whole families of Indians trotting along the highways with household wares and market produce strapped to their backs, bound for a few days' sojourn in Guatemala City. If a fiesta, or festival of some kind, is in the offing the roads especially between Antigua and Guatemala City are exceptionally colorful—the Indians don their most gorgeous clothes for the big celebration and carry along everything from jugs of pulque to tuneful marimbas with which to make merry in the big city.

OREGON NEWS

By Mrs. A. Tilton

OREGON—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hanes and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brooke were entertained at dinner Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Burke at Palo.

Miss Edna Whitney employed at the Ogle County Reporter office had the pleasure of a visit, over the week end with her parents in Gibson City, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kinn were visited Thursday by the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brignon of Leland, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edelman entertained at dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barank, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson, Everett Edelman of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. William Edelman, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Edelman and son Bill and Mrs. Gertrude Eeten and all attended morning services at St. Paul's Lutheran church and at the P. E. Hastings home. Monday Miss Katherine entered as a student at Rockford College.

Philip Nye returned to Champaign Friday to resume the study of law at the University of Illinois.

The members of the M. E. church choir enjoyed a picnic supper Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. D. Landers.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wiley, former Oregon residents, but who for the past few months have resided in Amboy were both badly burned Sunday evening by the explosion of a kerosene stove in the kitchen of their home.

Mrs. Wiley was preparing a lunch when the accident occurred. Her husband rushed to her aid to extinguish her blazing clothing and received severe burns himself. They were both taken to the Amboy hospital. Mrs. Wiley is the daughter of Mrs. Rosa Haight of this city and has spent almost her entire life here. The couple's many friends and ac-

Dangerous! You know her type—glamorous, smart, exquisitely dressed . . . and unscrupulous! Barbara Courtney is her name—and you've met her in real life.

Romantic! Joan Waring loved moonlight and roses . . . and wanted Bob in spite of his money. Just a sentimental Southern girl—until life made her bitter.

SWEETHEART
Starts Sept. 28 in Evening Telegraph

TWO fascinating girls—and they both wanted the same man. One of them had money, and the other—but you'll want to find out for yourself what happened. Read about them in "Forgotten Sweetheart," the gripping new serial by Mary Raymond.

Baclanova in Role Of Blonde Vamp

Olga Baclanova is the blonde vampire of Earl Carroll's musically sanguinary "Murder at the Vanities" and Evelyn Kelly (right) will give you an idea of the pulchritude which competes with violent death for the limelight in the same show.

Annotations On Numbers Programmed By Orchestra

The opening number on the concert to be given by the Dixon Philharmonic Orchestra at the Masonic Temple Wednesday evening, Sept. 27, at 8 o'clock will be Rossini's overture "Barber of Seville," the peculiarity of which is that the overture to the opera was lost. The overture you hear served first as a prelude for another opera, "Aureliano in Palmira," and then for "Elizabeth, Queen of England." Gioacchino Antonio Rossini, the "Swan of Pesaro" as he was called by his admirers, son of a town trumpeter and slaughter-house inspector, his mother was a baker's daughter. He was born at Pesaro, Italy, February 29, 1792. Rossini began his musical career as a public singer and at the age of thirteen played the horn in a theatre. Shortly after this he took lessons from regular teachers and sang in church until his voice changed. Then he commenced studying counterpoint, and in the meantime as his parents were poor, supported himself by giving lessons and playing in small orchestras. In 1808 he began composition and at last in 1810 received a commission for an opera from Venice. He devoted all his energies thenceforward to this style of music, and for twenty years opera after opera came from his facile pen, his last, "Wilhelm Tell," appearing in 1829. Although it was his masterpiece and very successful, after a few performances he abandoned writing for the theatre, owing to certain political and domestic reasons as well as from the fact that his rival, Meyerbeer, overshadowed him in public favor. He lived forty years longer, but little more appeared from his pen except his "Stabat Mater," a small mass, and miscellaneous pieces for the voice and piano. In 1855 he settled down in Paris and spent his remaining days at his villa in "Passy" as a voluptuary, caring little for his own or any other music. He died there November 13, 1868, and was buried amid most imposing ceremonies.

Rossini's catalogue contains forty-eight operas, some of them produced in other settings, fourteen cantatas, thirty-one miscellaneous vocal pieces, five string quartets, four marches, a fantasia for four trumpets, forty miscellaneous vocal pieces, and of sacred music a "Stabat Mater," "Cantum Ergo," "Quoniam," and "O, Salutaris." "The Barber of Seville," "Wilhelm Tell" and "Moses in Egypt" still retain their places on the operatic stage. Rossini must be classed as one of the most eminent of the Italian opera composers. Though of humble birth, he rose to distinction by his own efforts and died crowned with world wide fame. His music was the fashion of his day. It is eminently theatrical. In his youth he told one of his teachers he cared only to write operas, though he carefully studied

Wins Medal—Sets Record

Cincinnati was jubilant when the qualifying round of the National Amateur was finished over the Kenwood Club course—for Johnny Fischer, local pride, walked off with the medal after setting a new qualifying record score of 141 for the 36 holes. Above Johnny is shown at right turning in his score card to W. W. Baxter, official score keeper. Fischer also won the medal in last year's National Amateur.

after a visit with his brother Jerry Meakins, Jr. and family. Clarence Lindsey cut his clothes seed Saturday. Oscar and George Lehman and Douglas Deyor attended a sale at Polo Saturday. Floyd Fingle filled his silo Thursday. Howard Fuller attended sauerkraut day at Forrester Thursday. Elmer Patchin and wife spent the week-end at the Albert Patchin home at Plattville, Wis. William Farwell and family moved Wednesday to Milledgeville. Mr. and Mrs. Mart Schryver and Charles Joiner of Polo were callers at the J. E. Miller home Friday evening. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Nesemmer Tuesday, Sept. 12, a son. Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Warehime and daughter Shirley spent Saturday and Sunday at Clinton, Ia., with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Harderson.

Jordan — Mr. and Mrs. Willard Schryver visited his brother George Sunday. Reuben Fuller and his two sons Thomas and Virgil and daughter Alice visited Sunday afternoon at the James Fuller home. Gus Warner is having a siege of the flu. Frank Heflebower of Sterling was a caller at the Landis home Wednesday. Milton Noakes spent Wednesday in Oregon. Mrs. Alice Kroehler and daughter Pauline were Saturday shoppers in Palo. William Meakins has returned to his home at Bloomington, Ind.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted.—St. Matthew 23:12.

All other passions do occasional good; but when pride puts in its word everything goes wrong.—Ruskin.

SIGN-POSTS

IMAGINE yourself on an unfamiliar highway at night in the country. You want to go to Allison. You come to a forked road. No signs! Which way? You turn left and come to a crossroad. No signs. You turn right. You come to a town. It proves to be Liberty. You go back to the fork and turn left. A mile or so farther on you come to another crossroad. A sign pointing right says "Allison three miles."

But for that sign-post you might have traveled miles—spent hours, and come short of your destination.

Imagine yourself in need of hosiery, clothing, breakfast foods or anything else, and this newspaper without advertisements! Think of the number of stores you would have to visit, qualities and prices to check, reliabilities to consider.

Advertisements are sign-posts. They are information. They save you from wandering aimlessly from store to store. They keep you advised of the newest products; of the latest values. They save you time, and put greater buying power in your dollars. They assure you of quality and service in merchandise, for only honest goods honestly advertised can stand the spotlight of publicity.

SPORTS NEW YORK PLANS GREAT WELCOME FOR TERRY MEN

Phillies Beat Buccos To Clinch Pennant For The Giants

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
William Harold Terry, the sturdy young man from Memphis who took over the management of the New York Giants a year ago when John McGraw retired, led his club back home from the west today with the National League pennant added to its luggage.
Meanwhile, the Washington Senators, who were believed to have sewed up the American League championship while the surprising Giants were still regarded as an uncertain quantity, were marking time along the pennant trail, needing two more decisions for them or against the New York Yankees to clinch the other place in the world's series.

The Giants settled the National League race yesterday—or rather had it settled for them when the Phillies knocked their last rivals, the Pittsburgh Pirates, out of the running. Knowing they were "in" from the second inning on, the Giants went down to a 12 to 3 defeat at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals in the last game of their western tour. But they could afford to lose that game and all the nine other that are left on their schedule after the Pirates dropped a 3-2 decision in the second game of a double-header.

After beating the Phils 2 to 1 behind Larry French's steady pitching in the opener for their 32nd victory of the season, the Buccos took their 65th defeat when the Phils put on an eighth inning rally for two runs. They have seven more to play but if they win them all the best percentage they can reach is .578. The Giants, with 88 won and 55 lost so far, can drop nine more and still have a .529 mark.

The American League race tightened up meanwhile as the Senators, with a chance to clinch the pennant right in front of them, lost their second straight game to St. Louis Browns, 4 to 0 when Dick Coffman allowed the league leaders to tie the game. The Yankees did their part toward staying in the race by overwhelming the Chicago White Sox, 10-1 and 10-3. They combined 17 hit attacks in each game with air-tight pitching by George Uhle and Charley Devens.

This reduced the Senators' lead from nine to 7 1-2 games but did not make any serious difference in the pennant race as the Yankees still will win the flag for Washington, even if the Yanks take all of the nine they have left.

The Giants who couldn't even draw a fair crowd on their own home rounds early in the season, had a big welcoming party ahead of them at the end of their homeward journey as champions with a parade through town to the City Hall for an official greeting as the climax tomorrow morning. It was all the warmer, perhaps, because the team which won the 13th pennant for a New York National League club, thus upstaging the major league record made by the Chicago Cubs last year, was one which fooled the experts and the fans alike in taking the title.

In 1932 the Giants could get no better than a tie for sixth place. Last spring, despite numerous trades which showed Terry's energetic efforts to rebuild the club if nothing else, they still were regarded as a probable second division club. Even when they started their last western trip with a 7-1-2 game margin after holding the lead uninterruptedly since June 10, their chances were considered uncertain.

Young Pitchers Shine
All the way it was a matter of unbeatable pitching, with the youngsters, Hal Shumacher and Roy Parmelee coming through in fine style, and a spirit which carried them through as they refused to be beaten by their opponents. Overwhelming the Chicago White Sox, 10-1 and 10-3. They combined 17 hit attacks in each game with air-tight pitching by George Uhle and Charley Devens.

This reduced the Senators' lead from nine to 7 1-2 games but did not make any serious difference in the pennant race as the Yankees still will win the flag for Washington, even if the Yanks take all of

The Beier Loafers soft ball team went into first place in the tournament being staged at the new illuminated field at Sterling last evening when they won over Sullivan by a score of 7 to 3. With one out in the first inning, Fane and Lebre hit home runs. In the third inning Fane and Lebre registered a double apiece bringing the score up 3 to 0. In the last of the third Sullivan with the help of two walks and two singles, scored three runs to tie the count. In the first of the sixth with one out, Lebre doubled, Carroll Reilly singled, and William Reilly doubled. Hasselberg doubled and Underwood singled for four runs. The last four men to face Adolph were struck out, giving him a grand total of 23 strike outs in the two games he pitched. The score:

WELL BALANCED CARD FOR RING SHOW THURSDAY

Tomorrow Night To See The Last Of Outdoor Boxing

THURSDAY'S CARD
Aaron Wade, Peoria, vs Geno Salvatore, LaSalle.
Keith Graves, Peoria, vs Jimmy McCabe, Mt. Carroll.
Tommy Weatherall, Ladd, vs Ward Adams, Peoria.
Danny Steer, Peoria, vs Johnny Pancho, Cherry.
Johnny Doty, Dixon, vs Jack Franklin, Peoria.
Mike Hanley, LaSalle vs Young Geno, Streator.

Presenting one of the best balanced cards of the season, the Dixon Athletic club will wind up its series of popular outdoor boxing shows Thursday evening at the Crawford Maples arena. The attendance at the closing outdoor show will largely affect the continuance of the shows at the Ottawa avenue arena during the fall and winter months. It was announced today. Should the boxing fans turn out to patronize tomorrow evening's program, the Dixon Athletic club will continue its shows in the down town arena through the winter. Matchmaker Ed Hooker stated, in the event that only a small turn-out greets the bill, it is quite possible that the bouts will be halted for lack of patronage.

The Thursday show presents a pair of the strongest double wind-up features of the season. The Aaron Wade-Geno Salvatore bout is a match that has been long sought by promoters in this section of the state to decide the lightweight championship. Both boxers and their managers have agreed to settle the dispute in the local arena as the feature bout of Thursday night's card.

Another bout which should be equally contested brings together Keith Graves of Peoria and Jimmy McCabe from the reforestation camp near Mt. Carroll. The balance of the program will feature some of the best boxers available in this vicinity and several new faces will be seen in the ring. The officials of the Dixon A. C. have drafted an unusually strong bill which should attract a capacity crowd of boxing fans from Dixon and vicinity.

But it was Mona herself who brought up the subject. She entered the office, removed her hat and a moment later was beside Eve's desk. "Whatever became of you Saturday night?" she demanded. "I was so worried! The boy friend and I met a man he knew who invited us to have a drink. We were in a booth at the opposite end of the room and when we came back Re

FIFTEEN ACTS AT AIR CIRCUS HERE ON SUNDAY

Dixon Legionnaires To Sponsor Afternoon Of Entertainment

The Hunter Air Circus, a troupe of 15 air and land performers, will offer 15 acts on a two-hour program Sunday afternoon at the Dixon Municipal airport under the sponsorship of Dixon post No. 12, American Legion. Members of the post are now conducting the advance ticket sale. Stickers which are being sold by the Legionnaires will be attached to the wind shields of cars patronizing the advance sale and by this method, no delay will be experienced in gaining entrance to the airport.

Members of the Legion post will assist deputies from the office of Sheriff Fred Richardson in the handling of the crowds at the airport, while a force of state highway officers will be on duty on the Lincoln Highway keeping the paving clear of parked cars.

Fifteen licensed pilots and performers and five government licensed planes will be included in the show. Dan Hunter, head of the flying troupe, who has been flying for 16 years will appear in some of the feature numbers on the program.

Bob Nelson, well known eastern pilot of Roosevelt Field, L. I., will fly a Waco biplane, putting it through barrel rolls, loops, snap rolls, wing dives, the falling leaf and power dive.

Bob Strait of Denver, Colo., will fly a Waco equipped with a speed ring in the balloon busting contest. He will also fly the plane from which the parachute jumpers will bail out.

Fred Welch, a member of the famous Caterpillar club, is the troupe's leading parachute jumper and will make some of his famous long jumps. These are but a few of the stars who will appear on the program of the flying circus Sunday afternoon at the Dixon Municipal airport.

Daily Health Talk

WHOOPING COUGH IN GROWN-UPS

Whooping cough is essentially a disease of the young.

Eighty per cent of the cases occur in those under 5 years of age; 40 per cent of all cases affect children between the ages of 2 and 5. However, whooping cough also occurs in grown-ups and in the aged, and when affecting adults the condition may be very trying and severe.

Before discussing this phase of the problem it is worth noting that domestic animals may also suffer from whooping cough and may act as carriers and transmitters of the disease.

Cats and dogs sometimes are afflicted with a spasmodic type of cough, caused by the same agent or

Navy Balloon Lands in Connecticut

Winner of the 1932 James Gordon Bennett International balloon race, Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle, rested his bid for this year's title when he brought the Navy balloon he was piloting to a safe landing at Branford, Conn., after a 750 mile flight from Chicago. Here you see the deflated balloon and basket from which Settle and his flying companion stepped out safely.

agents as whooping cough.

When there is a case of pertussis (whooping cough) in the house, it is wise to isolate the sufferer and to keep pets away from him.

There is no natural immunity to whooping cough; that is, people are not naturally resistant to the disease. All are susceptible to it. However, the disease may develop in a mild form, so mild, in fact, that the case may go unnoticed.

Whooping cough at one time or another affects almost every member of the community. One attack of whooping cough confers a definite resistance against the disease, so that second attacks are rather rare.

Those who suffer whooping cough during maturity or old age have either never had the disease or have lost their immunity. Many individuals have been attacked when they were past 70.

Because of the danger of contracting the disease grown-ups who are placed in the vicinity of a child sick with whooping cough should take every precaution against contracting it.

If following exposure, they chance to develop a mild spasmodic cough, they should assume that it is whooping cough until a contrary diagnosis is definitely made. Though their case is mild, they may unwittingly spread the disease to others.

TOO LATE TO LIVE

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

A famous American, one of the best beloved men of his generation, is said to have died unhappy, feeling that he had hardly lived at all.

A farmer-boy, he began at the bottom and climbed to a dizzy height of fame and power. He worked hard, lived carefully, planned wisely, and in the end won the highest prizes men can ask for.

At last, after an amazing career, he was released from all his work and hoped to live a bit. He did not want to have a fling, but he did want to have a little fun.

But, alas, it was too late. He was no longer tied by any task, but he was not free. The habits of long years bound him hand and foot and soul, and he could not break away. For one thing, he did not know how to play, having been too busy to learn.

His fame was a handicap too. Every move was noted by the press, every word recorded and played up. He had about as much privacy as a gold fish. If he sat in a rocking-chair on the front porch, in the good old country fashion, a crowd gathered to look at him.

Quaint, wise, noble, lovable, with a keen wit and a dry humor—what did such a man rise to? One is tempted to say that nothing fails like success, if to win it one misses the art of life and loses its joy. Yet he could have won it, perhaps, in no other way—that is the pity of it! As Emerson said: "What you

Off for Russia—"Unofficially"

Admitting that "there is nothing to prevent my reporting to the President the result of my observations," Senator William G. McAdoo is shown above as he sailed from New York for Russia with his daughter, Ellen. Known as an advocate of United States recognition of the Soviet, he denied, however, that his trip was being made in any official capacity.

will," quoth God, "pay for it and take it."

For everything has its price, success not less than failure. One of the worst failures I ever knew, as men reckon, lived richly and had no end of fine fun.

What shall we do about it? Plainly, we must live as we go along, if we are to live at all. To postpone life, to be always getting ready to live, is folly; for life will be gone before we know it.

What is life for, anyway? To live, of course. If we fail to live we fail fatally, no matter what great things we do. No prize, however high, is worth such a price. The martyr who gives his life for a cause, or an ideal, does not lose it. Nay, he finds how rich, how radiant, how full of high romance a human life can be!

This Motorist Is Taken Before Judge Who Saw Accident

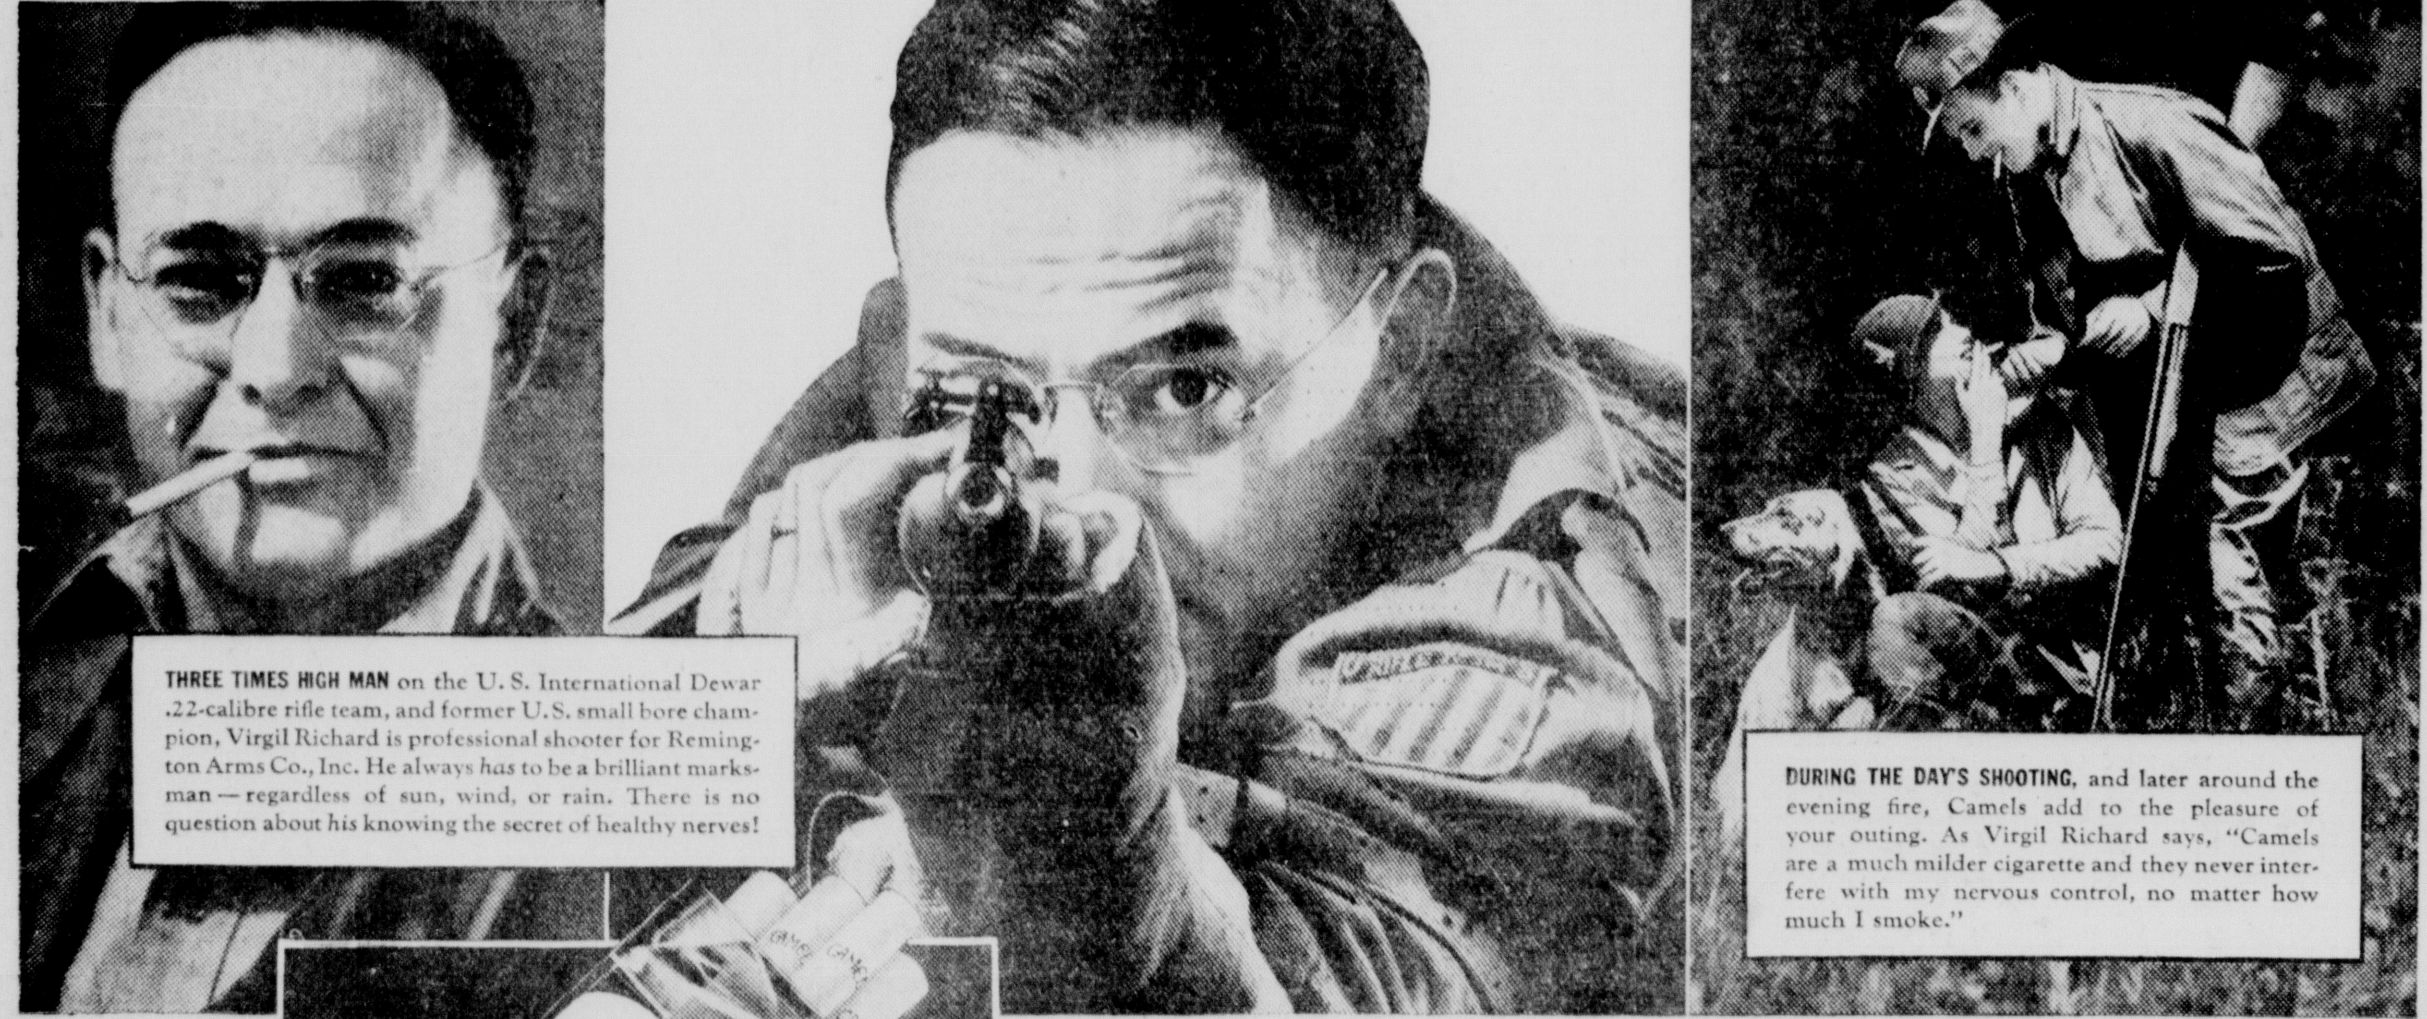

CHICAGO—Judge Eugene Holland heard Harold Kinnish, 26, give his explanation for an automobile accident in which his machine crashed into a parked car at a traffic signal and caused one of the occupants of the other machine to suffer a fractured skull. Then the judge sentenced Kinnish to jail for a year and fined him $1,000 for reckless driving, sentenced him to another six months for drunken driving and added another $1,000. The judge explained that he had been a witness to the accident.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE A SHARPSHOOTER

THREE TIMES HIGH MAN on the U. S. International Dewar .22-calibre rifle team, and former U. S. small bore champion, Virgil Richard is professional shooter for Remington Arms Co., Inc. He always has to be a brilliant marksman—regardless of sun, wind, or rain. There is no question about his knowing the secret of healthy nerves!

DURING THE DAY'S SHOOTING, and later around the evening fire, Camels add to the pleasure of your outing. As Virgil Richard says, "Camels are a much milder cigarette and they never interfere with my nervous control, no matter how much I smoke."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

VIRGIL RICHARD, in discussing smoking and shooting, says: "People often ask me if a professional sharpshooter can smoke as much as he wants. I've been enjoying cigarettes for years, without difficulty in keeping my nerves in shape for making record scores in tournament shooting events. That's because I have long been a Camel smoker. I have experimented with all the popular brands, and I find Camels are better for steady smoking. They're a much milder cigarette, and they never interfere with my nervous control, no matter how much I smoke."

Switch to Camels. You'll like the remarkable mildness... the fine, rich flavor of Camel's costlier tobaccos. You'll have satisfying proof that Camels do not interfere with healthy nerves.
